[RT I 2002, 61, 375 – entry into force 01.08.2002]

§ 2. Definition of expropriation
(1) Expropriation of immovables means the transfer of an immovable without the consent of the owner in the public interest for fair and immediate compensation.
(2) Expropriation of immovables is decided by the Government of the Republic. In the events provided by law, expropriation may be decided by other state agencies or a local authority.
(3) Expropriation is not precluded by provisions of law which prohibit or restrict the transfer or division of immovables or by the rights of third persons entered in the land register.

§ 3. Permissibility of expropriation
(1) An immovable may be expropriated in the public interest for the following purposes:
1) construction or expansion of construction works of police authorities, customs authorities, custodial institutions and rescue service agencies;
[RT I 2010, 29, 151 – entry into force 20.06.2010]
2) energy production and construction or expansion of construction works necessary for energy supply;
3) construction or expansion of public ports, airports and the construction works servicing them;
4) extraction of mineral resources;
5) installation or expansion of lines;
6) construction or expansion of public educational, medical and welfare institutions;
7) construction or acquisition of public roads (national and local roads, except for winter roads), public railways and public squares;
8) alteration or removal of construction works which substantially damage the surroundings or scenery if the owner has not done so by a prescribed date;
9) creation of access to bodies of water, scenic points of interest, protected natural objects and cultural monuments and ensuring preservation of such objects;
10) construction or expansion of cultural and sporting facilities, public beaches, tourist routes and recreation areas;

152) acquisition of the land adjacent to the state border in order to use it as the border strip;
153) construction or expansion of national defence objects;
16) in other events provided by law.

(2) The owner of an immovable may request the expropriation of their immovable by the state or a local authority for a fair and immediate payment if the established public law restrictions do not allow for the use of the immovable for its current intended purpose.

(3) Expropriation is not permitted if the purpose for which expropriation is requested is achievable without the acquisition of an immovable belonging to another person.

Before commencement of an expropriation procedure the state or the local authority must identify whether the owner of the immovable consents to the transfer of the immovable. To that end the state or the local authority will make an offer to the owner of the immovable and the price indicated therein must not be lower than the usual value of the immovable. If the owner of the immovable accepts the offer, the state or the local authority will have the right to enter into a contract with the owner of the immovable for the transfer of the immovable to the state or the local authority. If the owner of the immovable does not accept the offer within the term specified in the offer, the state or the local authority will have the right to expropriate the immovable for the purposes specified in subsection (1) of this section in accordance with the procedure provided for in this Act. If the owner of the immovable does not accept the offer within the prescribed term or submits a modified acceptance, it will be deemed that the owner has not accepted the offer.

Expropriation in the events specified in clauses (1) to (7) and (9) to (15) of subsection (1) of this section is permitted, in areas where detailed planning has been made mandatory, only on the basis of an approved detailed plan or, in areas where detailed planning has not been made mandatory, on the basis of building design criteria, as defined in the Planning Act. Also, expropriation is permitted on the basis of a special national plan or a special plan of the local authority. Expropriation for the purpose of acquisition of an immovable for the construction of a public road or a public railway is permitted on the basis of building design criteria, a special national plan or a special plan of the local authority.

Participants in expropriation procedure
(1) The participants in an expropriation procedure include the parties to expropriation and other persons whose rights are prejudiced by expropriation.

(2) The parties to expropriation include the owner of the immovable to be expropriated, the holder of the right of superficies and the acquirer of the immovable to be expropriated.

(3) The holder of an immovable to be expropriated is deemed to be the subject of expropriation and the expropriation applicant is deemed to be the expropriating authority as of making the expropriation decision. If an immovable has been encumbered with a right of superficies, the holder of the right of superficies is deemed to be the subject of expropriation.

(4) State agencies and rural municipality or city governments may be expropriation applicants and expropriating authorities.

The state or a local authority may transfer the right of ownership in an expropriated immovable to third persons in order to attain the purpose of the expropriation. Section 46 of this Act does not apply to the transfer.

Expropriation procedure
(1) An expropriation procedure begins with the submission of an expropriation application, with the submission of the draft decision specified in subsection 121 of this Act by the rural municipality or city government to the rural municipality or city council or with preliminary work and terminates with the registration of the expropriated immovable in the ownership of the expropriating authority, denial of the expropriation application or abandonment of expropriation.

(2) If an expropriation decision or a decision made or a step taken in the course of an expropriation procedure (including regarding the preliminary building design documentation or building design documentation of a public road or public railway) is contested in court, the expropriation procedure and the time-limits thereof will not be suspended. In the event of contestation of such a decision or step, the possession of the immovable or the right of ownership will not be transferred to the expropriating authority. If several decisions made or steps taken in the course of the same expropriation procedure are contested in court, the disputes will be settled in the course of one procedure.

(3) The contestation of a decision on determining the expropriation payment and compensation will be reviewed separately from the contestation of decisions made or steps taken in the course of the same expropriation procedure and the expropriation procedure and the time-limits thereof will not be suspended in the event of contestation of the given decision. The contestation of the given decision
§ 6. Compulsory possession

(1) If the expropriation of an immovable is not practical, the immovable property ownership may, in the public interest, be restricted by establishment of compulsory possession. The provisions for expropriation of immovable apply to the establishment of compulsory possession, unless otherwise provided for in chapter 8 of this Act.

[RT I 2007, 24, 128 – entry into force 26.03.2007]

(2) Compulsory possession is established by encumbrance of an immovable with a restricted right in rem or the obligation to tolerate utility networks or utility works provided for in § 158 of the Law of Property Act.

[RT I 2007, 24, 128 – entry into force 26.03.2007]

(3) A compulsory possessor may use an immovable only for the purpose prescribed in the decision establishing compulsory possession.

(4) If encumbrance of an immovable with compulsory possession does not permit use of the immovable for its current purpose, the owner of the immovable has the right to demand that the applicant for establishment of compulsory possession acquire the immovable or a part thereof.

Chapter 2
PRELIMINARY WORK AND DECISION OF EXPROPRIATION

§ 7. Permit for preliminary work

(1) Before submission of an expropriation application, an expropriation applicant has the right to perform preliminary work at an immovable to determine the suitability of the immovable for the purpose of the expropriation.

(2) From sunrise to sunset an expropriation applicant may, without the consent of the owner and the holder of the right of superficies, perform preliminary work that does not harm the immovable (such as surveying and inspection) at an immovable or a part thereof which has not been fenced or marked.

(3) If the work to be performed (such as drilling, excavation and cutting) harms an immovable or a part thereof which has not been fenced or marked, the consent of the owner or, if the immovable has been encumbered with a right of superficies, the consent of the holder of the right of superficies is required for the performance of preliminary work at a fenced and marked immovable or a part thereof, including in construction works, fenced yards and gardens. If the owner or the holder of the right of superficies refuses to grant consent to perform preliminary work in buildings, fenced yards or gardens, the expropriation applicant will apply to an administrative court in whose territorial jurisdiction the immovable is located for a permit for preliminary work and in another event the applicant will apply to the county governor or, in the event of expropriation for construction of a national road or public railway, to the Minister for Economic Affairs and Communications.

(4) A county governor or, in the events provided for in this Act, the minister responsible for the field will decide on the issue of a permit for preliminary work within two weeks as of the date of receipt of an application for a preliminary work permit.

A notice of application for a permit for preliminary work and a decision to grant or deny it must be delivered to a person by registered mail with advice of delivery or against signature on a notice where the time of delivery of the document must be recorded. If the notice of application for a permit for preliminary work and the decision to grant or deny it cannot be delivered to the owner of the immovable or the owner of the right of superficies in the aforementioned manner or if no information on the address of the person is available or if the person does not reside at the known address and their actual whereabouts are unknown and the information cannot be delivered in any other manner, the notice of the decision to grant or deny the permit will be published in a national daily newspaper by which the notice will be considered as delivered to the person.

§ 10. Notifying person about intention to submit expropriation application

(1) Within six months after the completion of preliminary work the expropriation applicant will inform the owner of the immovable and the holder of the right of superficies about the abandonment of the expropriation, unless the consent of the owner of the immovable or the holder of the right of superficies was not required for the performance of the preliminary work, or about the intention to submit an expropriation application. The holders of other restricted rights in rem will also be informed of the intention to submit an expropriation application.

(2) The state and the local authority will grant the owner of the immovable and the holders of restricted rights in rem the right to access the conceptual design of the planned construction works and the preliminary building design documentation or building design documentation of a public road or public railway approved by the issuer of the building permit for construction of the public road or public railway upon applying for expropriation.

(4) If the expropriation applicant cannot deliver the notice of the intention to submit an expropriation application to the owner of the immovable or to the holders of restricted rights in rem in the manner specified in subsection (3) of this section, because no information on the address of the person is available or if the person does not reside at the known address and their actual whereabouts are unknown and the information cannot be delivered in any other manner, the notice will be published in a national daily newspaper by which the notice will be considered as delivered to the person.

An expropriation payment for an immovable must not be lower than the usual value of the immovable or a right of superficies at the moment of passing the expropriation decision.

(2) Illegal construction works will not be valuated.
(3) A change in the value of an immovable to be expropriated or in the value of a restricted right in rem in the period between passing the expropriation decision and the special valuation or its possible change in the future will not be taken into consideration in determining an expropriation payment.

(4) A special valuation will be carried out upon entry into force of an expropriation decision. A special valuation will follow the procedure established on the basis of subsection 8 (2) of the Land Valuation Act.

(5) For the purpose of carrying out a special valuation, an expropriation applicant will submit an application to the county governor. If expropriation is planned for the purpose of construction or acquisition of a national road or a public railway, the applicant will submit an application for a special valuation to the minister responsible for the field. The application must indicate the location of the immovable, the number of the registered immovable, the name and place of residence or seat of the owner of the immovable or the holder of the right of superficies as well as those of the holders of other restricted rights in rem. (8) The term of recording and valuation must not be shorter than two weeks or longer than two months.

(9) The result of a special valuation will be formalised in a valuation report signed by all the authors. The valuation report will be submitted to the county governor or to the minister responsible for the field or to the rural municipality or city government and to the expropriation applicant, the owner of the immovable and the holders of the restricted rights in rem.

(10) Expenses relating to a special valuation, including the expropriation payment and the actual expenses of identifying the compensations such as the enforcement officer’s fee, experts’ fees, travel allowances and daily allowances, office expenses and other similar expenses will be borne by the expropriating authority.

§ 17. Amount of expropriation payment

(1) An expropriation payment must cover the expenses to be incurred by a subject of expropriation due to expropriation, whereby the expropriation payment of an immovable must cover the value of the immovable as well as the value of the accessories and fruits expropriated together with the immovable, unless otherwise provided by law.

(2) Constructions works erected at an immovable and reorganisations, plantations and sowings made at an immovable following the entry into force of an expropriation decision will not be compensated, unless the expropriating authority benefits from them.

(3) Essential parts, accessories and fruits of an immovable to the expropriated, including the essential parts specified in subsection (2) of this section, may be removed by the subject of expropriation from the immovable only with the permission of the expropriating authority.

[RT I 2002, 47, 297 – entry into force 01.01.2003]

§ 18. Compensation in event of deletion of real servitude

(1) If a real servitude encumbering an immovable to be expropriated is deleted, the expropriating authority must compensate the owner of the dominant immovable for damage arising from a decrease in the value of the immovable and of other property.

(2) Instead of compensation, the owner of the dominant immovable has the right to demand expropriation of the immovable belonging to the owner if the immovable can no longer be purposefully used due to the deletion of the real servitude.

§ 19. Compensation in event of deletion of personal servitude, real encumbrance, right of superficies or right of pre-emption

(1) If a personal servitude, real encumbrance or right of pre-emption encumbering an immovable under expropriation is deleted, the expropriating authority must compensate for damage arising from the deletion of such rights in rem.

(2) If an immovable under expropriation is encumbered with a usufruct, the usufruct will continue in the thing granted in place of the expropriated immovable.

(3) In the event of expropriation of a plot of land encumbered with a right of superficies, the right of superficies must also be expropriated.

§ 21. Compensation in event of termination of commercial lease or residential lease contract
Chapter 4
AGREEMENT PROCEDURE

§ 22. Commencement of agreement procedure

(1) An agreement procedure means entry into an agreement on the amount of an expropriation payment payable to a subject of expropriation for an immovable to be expropriated and on the amount and payment of the compensation for harm caused to the rights of other persons by the expropriation, on guaranteeing the interests of the holders of the harmed rights and on the terms and conditions of the transfer of the possession of the immovable. An expropriation procedure is usually organised by the county governor or, in the event of expropriation for the purpose of construction or acquisition of a local road, by the mayor of the rural municipality or city, or, in the event of expropriation for the purpose of construction or acquisition of a public road or public railway, by the minister responsible for the field (hereinafter competent person).

(2) The competent person will initiate an agreement procedure immediately after the entry into force of an expropriation decision and completion of a special valuation.

(3) If an immovable to be expropriated is situated in the territory of several counties, the expropriating authority will submit a request to the county governor of the county in whose territory the land register concerning the immovable to be expropriated is maintained.

§ 23. Notification of initiation of agreement procedure

(1) To initiate an agreement procedure, the competent person will publish a notice in a national daily newspaper, asking the persons whose rights are harmed by the expropriation to inform the notifier of their rights and claims. The term for notification must not be less than two weeks.

(2) The competent person will make a proposal to the owner of the immovable and holders of restricted rights in rem to notify of harm caused by the expropriation, which is not indicated in the valuation report specified in subsection 16 (9) of this Act. The competent person will deliver the proposal to the persons by registered mail with advice of delivery or against signature on the notice where the time of delivery of the document is recorded. The owner of the immovable and the holders of the restricted rights in rem must communicate their claims within two weeks following the receipt of the proposal.

(3) If the proposal specified in subsection (2) of this section cannot be delivered to the owner of the immovable or the holder of the restricted rights in rem in the aforementioned manner or if no information on the address of the person is available or if the person does not reside at the known address and their actual whereabouts are unknown and the proposal cannot be delivered in any other manner, the operative part of the proposal will be published in a national daily newspaper by which the proposal will be considered as delivered to the person.

§ 24. Summoning parties to agreement procedure

(1) After the expiry of the term specified in § 23 of this Act for submission of claims and notifying of damage, the competent person will summon the parties to the agreement procedure, including the parties to expropriation and other persons whose rights are harmed by the expropriation, and make a proposal to them to agree on the amount of the expropriation payment and compensation, on the conditions of payment thereof and on the conditions of ensuring the interests of the holders of the harmed rights and on the terms and conditions of the transfer of the possession of the immovable. The mayor of the rural municipality or city will summon the parties to the agreement procedure, including the subject of expropriation and other persons whose rights are harmed by the expropriation. A person authorised by the competent person may participate in the negotiations instead of the competent person.

(2) In an agreement procedure a notice of the time of a meeting set by the competent person will be delivered to the parties in accordance with the procedure provided for in subsections 23 (2) and (3) of this Act. The first meeting will be deemed as held if at least one subject of expropriation or one holder of a restricted right in rem is present. The time of the next meeting of the agreement procedure will be agreed in the ongoing meeting or be set by the competent person.

(3) In negotiations over an agreement on the amount of an expropriation payment and compensation the parties to expropriation and other persons whose rights are harmed by the expropriation will follow the highest value of the immovable or restricted right in rem specified in subsection 16 (9) of this Act. The competent person has the right to involve experts in negotiations and the expenses of the experts will be borne by the expropriating authority.

(4) Claims not entered in the land register, which have not been submitted by the due date set on the basis of subsection 23 (1) of this Act or which have not been submitted within the term specified in subsection 23 (2) will not be satisfied.

§ 25. Term for entry into agreement

(1) The competent person will set a term of up to 30 days for entry into an agreement.

(2) If a party to expropriation does not appear or if none of the parties to expropriation appear before the competent person by the agreed time without good reason or if no agreement is reached within the prescribed term, the competent person will terminate the agreement procedure and the expropriation procedure will continue.

§ 26. Deed and minutes of agreement procedure

(1) The competent person or a person authorised by the competent person will draw up a deed regarding reaching an agreement and the deed will be signed by the parties to the procedure and the author of the deed. The deed must set out the terms and conditions of payment of the expropriation payment and compensation, the guaranteeing of the interests of the holders of the harmed rights and the delivery of the possession of the immovable. If no agreement on the terms and conditions of payment of the expropriation payment and compensation, the guaranteeing of the interests of the holders of the harmed rights and the delivery of the possession of the immovable is reached, the expropriation payment and compensation will be paid and the possession will be taken over in accordance with the procedure provided for in this Act.

(2) On the basis of a deed of agreement, the parties to an agreement procedure may demand from one another the transfer of the right of ownership in the immovable to the expropriated and the deletion of rights encumbering the immovable.

(3) The competent person or a person authorised by the competent person will take the minutes of the agreement procedure. The competent person or a person authorised by the competent person will take minutes of an agreement procedure which was unsuccessful due to the circumstances provided for in subsection 25 (2) of this Act, stating the reasons for the failure of the agreement procedure and the amount of the expropriation payment and compensation last demanded by the subject of expropriation and the owners of the rights to be deleted and last offered by the expropriating authority.

Section 27. Decision on expropriation payment and compensation

(1) If no agreement is reached on an expropriation payment and compensation payable for harmed rights, the county governor or, in the event of expropriation for the purpose of construction or acquisition of a national road or a public railway, the minister responsible for the field or, in the event of expropriation for the purpose of construction or acquisition of a local road, the rural municipality or city government will make a decision setting the expropriation payment and compensation.

(2) The highest value of the immovable or the restricted right in rem indicated in the valuation report specified in subsection 16 (9) of this Act will be indicated as the amount of the expropriation payment and compensation in the decision setting the expropriation payment and compensation. For the purpose of valuation of other claims that have been communicated within the prescribed term, but with regard to which no agreement has been reached, the competent person will organise an additional valuation procedure whose expenses will be borne by the expropriating authority.

(3) For the purpose of organisation of the additional valuation procedure specified in subsection (2) of this section, the competent person may involve experts and establish committees. The term of valuation must not exceed one month. The results of valuation must be set out in a valuation report. A decision setting an expropriation payment and compensation must indicate the highest value of the claim for damage specified in the valuation report as the amount of the value of the claim for damage. The valuation report will be submitted to the person concerned along with the decision setting the expropriation payment and compensation.
