(3) An applicant for registration as a fish seller must include with his or her application a statement of the facilities and the proposed methods of operation that he or she intends to use and the place where he or she intends to maintain his or her records of sales of first sale fish.

(4) In considering an application for registration the Department must take into account whether the facilities and proposed methods of operation of the applicant, and the place where the applicant intends to maintain records of sales of first sale fish, are such as to assist compliance by the fish seller with the Control Regulation and these Regulations.

14 Powers of sea-fishery officers in relation to fishing boats

(1) For the purpose of enforcing these Regulations or any equivalent provisions, a sea-fishery officer may exercise the powers conferred by this regulation in relation to any registered and licensed fishing vessel within the Island's Territorial Sea.

(2) A sea-fishery officer may go on board the boat, with or without persons assigned to assist the officer in the performance of the officer's duties, and may require the boat to stop and do anything else which will facilitate either the boarding of, or the disembarkation from, the boat.

(3) A sea-fishery officer may require the attendance of the master and other persons on board the boat and may make any examination and inquiry which appears to the officer to be necessary for the purpose mentioned in paragraph (1) of this article and, in particular —

(a) may search for fish or fishing gear on the boat and may examine any fish on the boat and the equipment of the boat, including the fishing gear, and require persons on board the boat to do anything which appears to him to be necessary for facilitating the examination;

(b) may require any person on board the boat to produce any document relating to the boat, to any fishing operations or other operations ancillary thereto or to the persons on board which is in his custody or possession;

(c) for the purpose of ascertaining whether an offence under these Regulations or any equivalent provisions has been committed, may search the boat for any such document and may require any person on board the boat to do anything which appears to him to be necessary for facilitating the search;

(d) may inspect and take copies of any such document produced to him or found on board;

(e) without limiting sub-paragraphs (c) and (d), may require the master and any person for the time being in charge of the boat to render all such documents on a computer system into a visible and legible form, including requiring any such document to be produced in a form in which it may be taken away; and

(f) if the boat is one in relation to which the officer has reason to suspect that an offence under these Regulations or any equivalent provisions has been committed, may seize and detain any such document produced to him or found on board for the purpose of enabling the document to be used as evidence in proceedings for the offence;

but nothing in sub-paragraph (f) permits the seizure or detention of any document required by law to be carried on board the boat except while the boat is detained in a port.
(4) If it appears to a sea-fishery officer that an offence under these Regulations or any equivalent provisions has at any time been committed, the officer may require the master of the boat in relation to which the offence took place to take, or himself or herself take, the boat and its crew to the port which appears to the officer to be the nearest convenient port, and detain or require the master to detain the boat in the port.

(5) If a sea-fishery officer detains or requires the detention of a boat the officer must serve on the master a notice in writing stating that the boat will be or is required to be detained until the notice is withdrawn by the service on the master of a further notice in writing signed by a sea-fishery officer.

15 Powers of sea-fishery officers on land

(1) For the purpose of enforcing these Regulations or any equivalent provisions, a sea-fishery officer may —

(a) enter and inspect at any reasonable time any premises used for carrying on any business in connection with the operation of fishing boats or activities connected therewith or ancillary thereto or with the treatment, storage, purchase or sale of fish;

(b) be accompanied by such other persons as appear to the officer to be necessary and any equipment or materials;

(c) examine any fish on the premises and require persons on the premises to do anything which appears to the officer to be necessary for facilitating the examination;

(d) carry out at such premises such other inspections or tests as may reasonably be necessary;

(e) require a person not to remove or cause to be removed any fish from such premises for such a period as may be reasonably necessary for the purposes of establishing whether an offence under these Regulations or any equivalent provisions has at any time been committed;

(f) require a person on the premises to produce any documents which are in his custody or possession relating to the catching, landing, transportation, trans-shipment, sale or disposal of any fish or to the entry to, or exit from, any port or harbour by any fishing vessel;

(g) for the purpose of ascertaining whether any person on the premises has committed an offence under these Regulations or any equivalent provisions, search the premises for any such document and require any person on the premises to do anything which appears to him to be necessary for facilitating the search;
(h) inspect and take copies of any such document produced to the officer or found on the premises;

(i) require an appropriate or responsible person to render any such document on a computer system into a visible and legible form, including requiring it to be produced in a form in which it may be taken away; and

(j) if the officer has a reason to suspect that an offence under these Regulations or any equivalent provisions has been committed, seize and detain any such document produced to the officer or found on the premises for the purpose of enabling the document to be used as evidence in proceedings for the offence.

(2) The provisions of paragraph (1) also apply in relation to any land used in connection with any of the activities described in paragraph (1), or in respect of any vehicle or container which a sea-fishery officer has reasonable cause to believe is being used to transport fisheries products, as they apply in relation to premises and, in the case of a vehicle, shall include power to require the vehicle to stop at any time and, if necessary, direct the vehicle to some other place to facilitate the inspection.

(3) If a justice of the peace on sworn information in writing is satisfied —

(a) that there is reasonable ground to believe that any documents or other items which a sea-fishery officer has power under this regulation to inspect are on any premises and that their inspection is likely to disclose evidence of the commission of an offence under these Regulations or any equivalent provisions; and

(b) either —

(i) that admission to the premises has been or is likely to be refused and that notice of intention to apply for a warrant has been given to the occupier; or

(ii) that an application for admission or the giving of such notice would defeat the object of the entry, or that the premises are unoccupied, or that the occupier is temporarily absent and it might defeat the object of the entry to await his or her return;

the justice may by warrant signed by the justice, and valid for one month, authorise a sea-fishery officer to enter the premises, if need be by reasonable force, and be accompanied by such persons as appear to the officer to be necessary.

16 Powers of sea-fishery officers to seize fish

(1) This regulation applies —

(a) in the Island;

(b) to a fishing boat within the Island’s Territorial Sea.
(2) If this regulation applies, a sea-fishery officer may seize any fish (including any receptacle which contains the fish) in respect of which the officer has reasonable grounds to suspect that an offence under these Regulations or under any equivalent provision, has been committed.

17 Protection of officers

A sea-fishery officer or a person assisting the officer by virtue of regulations 14(2) or 15(1)(b) or authorisation under regulation 15(3) is not liable in any civil or criminal proceedings for anything done in the purported exercise of the powers conferred on that person by regulations 14 to 16 if the court is satisfied that the act was done in good faith, that there were reasonable grounds for doing it and that it was done with reasonable skill and care.

18 Obstruction of officers

(1) A person commits an offence if the person—
   (a) fails without reasonable excuse to comply with any requirement imposed by a sea-fishery officer under the powers conferred on sea-fishery officers by regulations 14, 15 and 16;
   (b) without reasonable excuse prevents, or attempts to prevent, any other person from complying with any such requirement; or
   (c) assaults an officer who is exercising any of the powers conferred on the officer by regulations 14, 15 and 16 or intentionally obstructs any such officer in the exercise of any of those powers.

(2) A person convicted of an offence under paragraph (1) is liable—
   (a) on summary conviction to a fine not exceeding £5,000; or
   (b) on conviction on information to a fine.

19 Offences by bodies corporate

(1) If an offence under these Regulations committed by a body corporate is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of, a director, manager, secretary or other similar officer of the body corporate, or a person purporting to act in any such capacity, the officer as well as the body corporate shall be guilty of the offence and liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.

(2) Where any offence under these Regulations committed by a partnership is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of, a partner, the partner as well as the partnership is guilty of the offence and liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.
(3) Where any offence under these Regulations committed by an unincorporated association (other than a partnership) is proved to have been committed with the consent or connivance of, or to be attributable to any neglect on the part of, any officer of the association or any member of its governing body, that person as well as the association is guilty of the offence and liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.

EXPLANATORY NOTE
(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations provide for the implementation of certain EU obligations that apply to the Island in respect of the control of marketing of first sale fish.

The Regulations make provision for the registration by the Department of Environment, Food and Agriculture of sellers (regulation 4) and buyers (regulation 7) of first sale fish. Regulations 6 and 9 require registered fish sellers and registered fish buyers to maintain records of their sales and purchases of first sale fish. The Regulations provide offences for the purposes of the enforcement of these requirements. Regulation 10 provides for the electronic completion and transmission of sales note data.

The Regulations also provide offences in relation to the sale and purchase of first sale fish. Under regulation 5 it is an offence to sell first sale fish unless registered as a fish seller. By regulation 8 it is an offence for a person who is not registered as a buyer to purchase first sale fish, subject to an exception for limited quantities bought for private consumption. By regulations 11 and 12 it is an offence to sell or buy first sale fish landed otherwise than by a registered and licensed fishing vessel.

Regulation 13 sets the penalties for offences: on summary conviction, a fine not exceeding £5,000; on conviction on information, a fine. Where a person is convicted of offences in relation to registration or the maintenance of records a court may also revoke the registration concerned and may order that the person convicted is disqualified from applying for registration for a specified period.

The Regulations confer powers of enforcement on sea fishery officers which may be exercised in the Island and on any fishing boat within the Island’s territorial sea (regulations 14 to 16). Regulation 17 provides for protection of sea fishery officers and regulation 18 provides offences and penalties for their obstruction. Regulation 19 makes provision in respect of offences by bodies corporate.
